

presents

Brief Company Description

Beam Me Up is a Neuro VR Lab, dedicated to deliver next generation solutions, for optimizing content and human performances. Our team is composed of experts in Augmented and Virtual Reality, merged with experts in neuroscience and A.I. As a service provider, we assist with VIP support and push the limits of imagination for content creators, Museums, tradeshow and events.

Products / Technology Description

Smart Room ready starter kit:

Because building from scratch a dedicated Holodeck or augmented reality table is costly & time consuming, we bring you this accelerated solution to speed-up your development of a custom-fit immersive or augmented reality space, ready for a future upgrade into an intelligent smart room.

Your Cognitive Control Manager software interactive solutions could now be converted into a full immersive or augmented reality solutions by activating our different functionalities modules such as collaboration, session recording and playback, content importation & optimization, geolocative map integration, virtual visits and presentation modules.

We also have industry templates available to speed you up further including mining lifeline project visualization and medical training simulation room.

Note: Our VIP support can assist you with your content needs as well as to tailor-fit furthermore.

Free walking VR tracking system, as well as high-precision haptic gloves and VR body suit system through 49% ownership of Exium Reality.